EXCOMMUNICATION
By E. Temple Thurston
Must I, like Adam, leave the enchanted woods?
And shall I hear their call no more?
Shall I see the dove's repletive note
Murmur of sanctuary at the open door?
Shall I no longer tread the winter hush
Or leaves the Jewish Autumn spread?
Will that life incense crucible in sleep
Sleep for me now for ever in the dead?
Will I spring once more about the larches play
Like children kissing, being kissed,
And I no longer see the birches' naked limbs
Flush to the Spring and vanish in green mist?
If I should knock at the Cathedral

Will there be no reverend woodsman
Consent from Summer's robed and
And to the choral Benediction let me
May I no more with sacrificial fire
Stand suppliant at Autumn's gate?
Must I with empty brazier turn away
And be for ever excommunicate?

SOUTH LEADS IN GOOD WILL PLAN

Race Problem Solution Attracts National-wide Attention—Results Expected
ATLANTA, Ga., Mar. 3.—That the South is to have the honor of giving to the world the first practical plan for the solution of its many complicated race problems, seems increasingly probable. The plan of conference and cooperation as a means of adjusting racial relations, developed in this city and promoted throughout the South by the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, is attracting nation-wide attention and is being studied earnestly abroad.
No effort has been made by the Commission to organize in the North, but in many northern cities interracial committees have sprung up spontaneously in the effort to meet situations created by the recent heavy negro migration. The Federal Council of Churches, representing nearly all the Protestant groups of North America, has set up a commission on the Church and Race Relations, officered by southern men and working throughout the nation in close harmony with the southern movement.
A state relations commission was recently appointed in Pennsylvania by Governor Pinchot, and a movement for such a body is on foot in New Jersey. The Southern Commission, with headquarters here, is receiving constant calls from outside the South for literature and speakers.
That the South's plan is to be tried out across the sea also is stated on the authority of Dr. Thomas Jesse Jones, nationally-known educator, who recently toured Africa, after making careful inquiries relative to the plan, announced his purpose to make it in future the basis of British efforts in behalf of the natives. Noted educational and religious leaders from South Africa have also been recent visitors to the Commission's headquarters here for the study of the movement. In the light of such facts, the suggestion embodied in the first sentence of this story does not seem improbable.
The Commission on Interracial Cooperation, which came into existence early in 1919, now has branches in every southern state and in 500 counties. The efforts of these groups are directed toward the removal of racial antagonism and the substitution of a friendly and helpful relation, through the conference and co-operation between representative leaders of the two races. They are seeking to demonstrate the possibility of two diverse races living side by side in mutual good will, justice indicated by the wide attention which the movement has attracted.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

A DAILY MENU FOR THE STOUT AND THIN.
Lose Weight
One orange, 1 cup tomato bouillon, 1-2 head lettuce, 8 button radishes, 2 broiled fillets of haddock, 1 lemon, brussels sprouts, 2 tablespoons pineapple ice, 1-2 cup black coffee without sugar, 1 pint skimmed milk, 4 pieces crisp unbuttered toast.
Total calories, 1130. Protein, 269; fat, 46%; carbohydrate, 46%. Iron, .0102 gram.
A whole orange, rather than juice, will be found to give bulk and tend to satisfy hunger.
The cheese sandwiches are suggested as an accompaniment for the salad. They should be made of unbuttered whole wheat or gluten bread and toasted in a hot oven.
If the radishes are thinly sliced over the lettuce and one-half teaspoon grated onion sprinkled over the whole with a dash of lemon juice and a brightening of paprika, a very acceptable salad is the result. Just plain head lettuce, well chilled and crisped, is delicious whether one is "plump" or thin.
Gain Weight
One orange, 4 corn meal pancakes, 4 tablespoons maple sirup, 2 butter and white bread can be used, 2 tablespoons creamed dried beef, on toast, 1 cup tomato bouillon, 2 sliced fried vegetable roast, 1-2 cup creamed peas, 1-2 head lettuce, 8 button radishes, 2 tablespoons scalloped potatoes, 2 broiled fillets of haddock, 2 tablespoons lemon butter, 2 cheese sandwiches, 4 tablespoons brussels sprouts, fig custard (3 tablespoons), 2 tablespoons pineapple ice, 1 slice sponge cake, 2 tablespoons French dressing, 1 pint whole milk, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 pieces rye bread, 2 dinner rolls.
Total calories, 3670. Protein, 425; fat, 1673; carbohydrate, 1572. Iron, .0172 gram.
The vegetable roast used the day before is very good sliced and fried. Serve with creamed peas.
The same salad is planned for this menu with the exception of the dressing.
The brussels sprouts are well seasoned with butter.
The fish gains many calories, by the lemon butter used in this menu.
The pancakes should be made rich in protein by the use of eggs.

GENERAL VIEW OF WRECKED NITRATION PLANT

Almost three hundred persons were killed and about a hundred injured when a terrific explosion wrecked the plant of the Nixon Nitration Works at Nixon, N. J. The concussion rocked houses within a radius of many miles and was heard as far away as lower New York city and Brooklyn. Photo shows general view of the wreckage, taken by an NEA staff photographer before the dust had settled. The explosion is believed to have started in the boiler room of the plant. All that remains of the boiler room is shown in foreground of picture.

Ambulances from Nixon and New Brunswick, N. J., were rushed to the wrecked plant of the Nixon Nitration Works following the heavy explosion which took a toll of many lives. Photo shows one of them about to leave with the last of the injured. Most of the 150 men and women employed in the plant were lined up for the Saturday pay when the explosion occurred.

Credit Is Good Faith, To Keep Faith Pay Promptly

Any merchant who "charges" your purchases in his store does so as a matter of convenience to you, and because he believes that you are able to and intend to settle up in due course. He makes the sales to you on these terms, in good faith.

On your part good faith calls for prompt payment when payment is due, or it calls for a frank statement to the merchant you are indebted to, explaining your failure to live up to the agreement. He has fulfilled his part of the transaction.

He will meet you half way. He realizes that you must live and meet ordinary expenses while you are catching up on your account with him. Both of you will feel more comfortable for a definite understanding.

But go to him. That is the surest way to destroy your credit with him is to let his bill go unpaid and avoid his store, while at the same time you make cash purchases in other stores where you do not have an account. Practices like these are not uncommon. They get to be known. And they get the individual who acts that way in disfavor as a credit risk quicker than almost any other one thing.

SOUTHERN MINING ELECTRICIANS MEET

Gathering At Balkan Last Week Votes Mine There Is Ideal One

BALKAN, MAR. 3.—An enthusiastic get-together of the chief electricians of the Southern Mining company's various camps was held February 22-23 at Balkan. The meeting, in strictest and entertaining character, was directed by F. A. Signer, consulting and chief electrician of the Southern Mining company.

The meeting began the morning of February 22 with an eloquent welcome address by F. E. Gilbert, general superintendent of the Southern Mining company. An address by Mr. Signer followed and discussion of various technical phases of the electrical work was discussed during the two days. The lunch at the club house under the direction of Mrs. Gotthard was particularly enjoyable.

Following the formal meeting, the electricians made a trip of inspection through the Balkan mine and motor yards, at the conclusion of which they voted that the mine at Balkan represented the ideal in condition and in equipment.

Among the electricians who took part in the program with the reports they gave were: G. L. Birch, "Remarks of Are Welding of Bonds"; John Jones, "Lubrication of Locomotives with Hair Varnish and Grease"; John Hoffmann, "Lubrication of C.E.G. Mining Machines"; B. Harkness, "Using Equipment of 6-ton L.M.E. Locomotives"; William Troutman, "Repairs to Control of 6-ton Locomotives"; Gail Renge, "Reel on C.E.G. Mining Machines"; Carson King, "Cost of Sharpening Bits by Machine"; H. A. Sparks, "Cost of Sharpening Bits by Hand"; William Fultz, "Are Welding of Bonds";

The electricians present were: Carson King, Gail Renge, William Fultz, H. A. Sparks, Perkins Harlan, John Hoffmann, Charles Childers, Balkan; W. A. Troutman, Golden Ash Coal company; Kitta Joe, Gilder, Carverville; W. A. Fultz, Gail Renge; John Hoffmann, Southern Mining company; Balkan; F. A. Signer, Williamsburg.

DEMOCRATS HUNT MAN TO BUCK COOLIDGE, CERTAIN NOMINEE OF REPUBLICANS

(By Harry B. Hunt)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—These are the dopey days for the Democrats.

Wherever two or more Democrats foregather, the inevitable first question is:

"Well, what's the dope?"

Meaning, always, the deep, inside political prognostication as evolved by the boys with their ears to the ground and their eyes on the presidency. Here it is.

Coolidge will be the Republican nominee. No Democrat disputes that. The G. O. P. must win or lose with the man now in the White House.

To repudiate him would be to admit a mistake in 1920 and concede failure of the present administration. With that settled, the Democratic dogmatists then set about picking the man to unseat Coolidge. That's a more involved problem!

Underwood? Too conservative. Lacks magnetism and popular appeal. Too southern to pull necessary northern vote. Small chance.

Cox? Outdistanced in 1920. A good campaigner, forceful, magnetic, but handicapped by his former defeat. Little cause of his Sinclair Oil connections. Personally and politically the best fighter and most alert brain in the party, but now too vulnerable. His candidacy would tie the hands of his party in using effectively the chief bludgeon by which the Democrats may be able to beat down the G. O. P.—Oil!

Kelston? Well—a possibility. Not too well known. No enemies. Made a good governor. Rather old, rather conservative, but born in Ohio and residing in Indiana is geographically well placed. A possibility—hardly a probability.

Al Smith of New York? Too bad! He has the sort of personality and popularity that would be invaluable. But a Tammany Catholic could garner few votes in the debatable middle west and west, where the battle must be won. Not available.

If none of these, then who? Well,

Copeland of New York, progressive, vigorous, magnetic. A doctor-president might restore the body politic to health.

John W. Davis? Um-m-m. Not likely. A charming fellow personally, but a bit up-stage for a popular candidate. A silk-stocking air. Nephew Joseph Daniels? Well, perhaps. He headed the Navy Department when the sailors covered themselves with glory in the World War. He was the object of many jibes, but he defended the naval oil lands from many assaults of those who wanted to exploit them.

Correll Hull? Carter Glass? Homer Cummings?

Wait a bit! Homer Cummings? There's a good politician. Foxy. Think this over:

If McAdoo can't be nominated, the man who is nominated will need the votes of McAdoo supporters. The decision of McAdoo's backers at Chicago to keep him in the fight insures his friends having the veto power in the New York convention. If they can't put him across they can say who will or will not get across.

And while all other potential Democratic candidates were hitting back smugly, smiling to themselves at McAdoo's discomfiture, figuring how his seeming elimination had helped their chances, Homer Cummings was up at Chicago himself shouting for McAdoo, proclaiming him the hope of progressive democracy—and incidentally making himself solid with the McAdoo forces as a potential dark horse when and if it is established McAdoo cannot pull down the nomination.

Well, that's the dope. Unsatisfactory stuff, always creating an appetite for more. But the supply in Washington is endless.

For these are the dopey days!
